

Kunsan mountain bikers really see the country

Are you wondering what to do while here at Kunsan? Are you running a little low on adrenalin during the dog days of summer? Then come join the Kunsan Mountain biking riders club. The club has daily weekday morning fitness rides and on weekends, and down days there are two scheduled rides. The weekday 8 a.m. rides are for fitness building and are led by experienced racers and long-time mountain bike riders. All rides start in the parking lot by the health and wellness center, Bldg. 1439. The weekend rides start at 10 a.m. for people that get their kicks by going fast and furious, and 1 p.m. for a little more sedate ride that still will get your heart going. All weekend rides go off base to local trails and to the parks in Kunsan City. It's a great way to see the country side. The views from the mountain tops are outstanding and well worth the ride. Please ensure your equipment is in good working order and bring plenty of water. There are a few people with bike shop experience and can get you home, but it is more fun to ride not wrench. Look things over before you hit the trails. To rip up the dirt call Tech. Sgt. Erik Singletary at 782-4592 or Staff Sgt. Steve Hartsell at 782-4412.

Photos by Airman 1st Class Brian Hill

Staff Sgt. Steve Hartsell, 35th Fighter Squadron information manager (light helmet), and Tech. Sgt. Erik Singletary, 8th Operations Group loading standardization crew member (dark helmet), ride a small trail at Little Coyote on base Tuesday. The Kunsan Mountain Biking riders club rides every day. Mountain biking enthusiasts arriving at Kunsan are encouraged to contact them.